FACTS ABOUT TENNESSEE: HER EXHIBITS AT THE LOUISIANA PURCHASE EXPOSITION, ST. LOUIS, 1904 (CLASSIC REPRINT) (PAPERBACK)

Forgotten Books, United States, 2016. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Facts About Tennessee: Her Exhibits at the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, St. Louis, 1904 The Tennessee, the Cumberland, the Mississippi Rivers and their tributaries furnish about miles of navigable waters, and these streams, supplemented by over miles of railroad, furnish ample transportation facilities and bring the primary markets of the State in touch with the markets of the world. Still other railroad lines are projected and in process of construction, which will open up vast forests, great coal fields, rich agricultural sections, and give a fresh impetus to her progress and add millions of dollars to her material wealth. The spirit of progress in the matter of good roads is abroad in the State, and the rural free delivery mail service is being rapidly extended, with all the concomitants of progress and enlightenment. The contact with steel rails and electric wires is quickening whole communities into new life, and schools and churches, homes and factories are springing up all along the highways of progress. Yet old as her civilization is, standing as she does in the front rank of educational progress in the South, with all of her schools and churches and factories, with all of her treasure of mine and field and forest. With all of her rail roads and telegraphs and telephones, Tennessee is still in the infancy of her material development. Her great natural resources have scarcely been more than touched. She has the soil, she has the water, and she has the seasons that enable her people to produce at home almost every important crop mentioned in the census schedule and everything that is absolutely essential to the support of an enlightened people. There...
