Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Cabinet of Natural History and American Rural Sports, Vol. 3 There is no animal, native of North America, so interesting and valuable as the Beaver; and it is equally certain, that few animals of the world have been so much admired and extolled, and, at the same time, have had so large a share of intelligence imputed to them more unjustly. But, with all the importance attached to the animal, how much ignorance exists of its true character. If we examine the opinions of men on this subject, we see at once how deeply wrong impressions have become rooted by pondering over the fictitious histories of the Beaver, - or more particularly being influenced, in early youth, by the fabulous stories of the animal, framed as truth, and admitted into the various seminaries of learning. Here we find the Beaver placed at the head of all inferior creatures for sagacity and intelligence, and endowed with intellectual qualities superior to many nations or tribes of human beings. This undoubtedly is error, and to overturn it must be the work of time and truth, by the introduction, into schools and families, of authentic histories of the animal. It is, however, no trifling undertaking, to establish truth on prejudicial error, or attack the writings of the learned and eloquent, which have filled the world with theories or false statements, wrought up by ingenuity to almost sublimity. Among the modern writers on Natural History, none seems to have exerted so general an influence as the A Count Buffon, who appears to have been regarded, by most of his successors, as authority substantial and indubitable. Under these impressions, many...
